SOME MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION IN QUADRENNIAL SESSION AT HAVERHILL, MASS., OCTOBER 9-15, 1914.

REV. ALVA H. MORRILL, D.D.,
PRESIDENT AMERICAN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

REV. ALVA H. MORRILL, D.D., was born in Grafton, New Hampshire, June 7, 1848, being the son of Rev. W. S. and Minerva T. Morrill. Thus he was reared in faithful Christian surroundings, whose effects have been visible under widely varying influences in later life. He was converted in Marlow, New Hampshire, at the age of seventeen years. In 1868 he graduated from the Christian Institute at Andover and Wolfborough. With high honors, he graduated from Dartmouth College in 1872. In August, 1870, he preached his first sermon at Tuftonboro, New Hampshire. He entered on his duties as pastor of the church at Rye, New Hampshire, in April, 1872. He remained there three years. He was ordained in July, 1872. While pastor at Rye he was married to Miss E. T. Hubbard, of Wells, Maine. In 1875 he became principal of the Proctor Academy, and preached for the churches of Hill and Springfield. In 1878 he became pastor of the church at

Marion, Indiana, but the same year accepted the position of professor of New Testament Greek in the Christian Biblical Institute at Stanfordville, New York. There his learning, industry, and remarkable abilities gave him great influence over the young men graduating from that institution, which influence continues to the present time. While professor at Stanfordville he was most of the time pastor of the church there, and secured the erection of an elegant new church building. He was also an energetic worker for temperance, and exerted a marked power for good in that section of country. More than once the Prohibition party asked him to be their candidate for civil office. Probably in 1893, he closed his long labors at the Christian Biblical Institute to become principal of Starkey Seminary at Eddytown, New York, where his administration attracted attention to the school; but the financial sacrifices were more than he could continue, and he became pastor of the church at Haverhill, Massachusetts, shortly before the American Christian Convention was held with the church there. A few months ago he resigned his pastorate at that place. During the session of the Convention he was elected its president, and still holds that office. He is also secretary of the Christian Publishing Association, and holds other positions of trust among the Christians. He is a very able preacher, and among temperance orators has few equals. He has wonderful activity, is in the very prime of life, is devoted to his duties, and is an earnest follower of Jesus.

J. J. SUMMERBELL.

A Brief Statement of the History and Doctrine of the Christian Denomination.

By Rev. Alva H. Morrill, D.D., President American Christian Convention.

THE denomination which, for nearly a century, has taken "Christian" as its only name, is a union of three separate movements in somewhat remote sections of our country, near the beginning of the present century.

The earliest of the three arose in North Carolina, in which Rev. James O'Kelley was the principal leader; and was the result of dissatisfaction with an episcopal form of government in the Methodist Church. The withdrawal from that church was made in Manakin Town, North Carolina, December 25, 1793. At first they took the name of "Republican Methodists," but soon changed to the name "Christian" only, and acknowledged no head over the church save Christ, and no creed but the Bible.

Dr. Abner Jones, a member of the Baptist church in Hartland, Vermont, after having carefully studied the subject of creeds and sectarian names, resolved to withdraw from the Baptists, and to advocate Christian character and true piety as the only test of fellowship, ignoring human creeds and names. He gathered a church at Lyndon, Vermont, in September, 1800, and another two years later at Bradford, in the same state, and still a third in March, 1803, at Piermont, New Hampshire. These churches were founded upon the principles which are accepted as fundamental by the churches of the denomination to-day.

The western movement had its origin among the Presbyterians, and resulted from an extensive revival in Kentucky and Tennessee. An organization known as the "Springfield Presbytery," composed of those who had withdrawn from the Presbyterian denomination, after a brief existence was dissolved in 1804.

Each of these movements, without the knowledge of the other, though having their origin in different denominations, adopted substantially the same general polity. To-day the aggregate of these united bodies is about 120,000 communicants. As they are largely a rural people, though having quite a respectable number of city churches, their growth has been somewhat slow, while in New England many country churches have ceased to exist because of the movement of population to business centers.

While the denomination has no acknowledged creed but the Bible, and while its highest ecclesiastical body, the "American Christian Convention," does not put forth any authorized statement of belief, yet the churches and ministers composing it are well agreed as touching certain principles which have ever been regarded as fundamental principles of the body, so that it may be confidently affirmed that there is uniformity of teaching.

First. The Bible as our only creed, an all-sufficient rule of faith and practice touching the Christian life.

Second. The name "Christian," given first to the disciples at Antioch (in Syria), the most appropriate name for those who believe in Christ.

Third. Christian character, manifested in a life consecrated to Christ and his service, our only test of Christian and church fellowship.

Fourth. The union of all the followers of Christ.

Fifth. The right and duty of private judgment in the interpretation of the Scriptures.

Holding to these principles, they offer a basis for the union of all the followers of Christ so broad as to include all whom Christ receives, so narrow as to exclude all whom he rejects, while at the same time seeking in communion with all Christians the salvation of men at home and abroad, and helping to extend the Redeemer's kingdom. In short, the denomination seeks to exalt the essentials; to magnify the things Christ magnified, and to discard those things which to-day divide the followers of our Lord.

REV. J. F. BURNETT, SECRETARY AMERICAN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

REV. JOHN FRANKLIN BURNETT was born in Adams County, Ohio, near Manchester, April 16, 1851; was united in marriage with Miss Lizzie Turner, a niece of Elder G. W. Mefford, September 8, 1870, and was baptized the same year by Rev. C. W. Garoutte, at Ripley, Ohio. A few years later he moved to Higginsport, Ohio, and united with the Christian Church of that place. The writer of this sketch being then his pastor, at once discovered in "Johnny" the evident struggles of latent powers, which, if let loose and properly directed, would soon exchange the adz for the pen, the truss-hoops for the binding forces of the gospel, and leap from the cooper-shop to the pulpit. The matter was presented to the church in due time, and with unanimous voice he was commended at once to conference for licentiate membership. Upon this commendation he joined the Southern Ohio Christian Conference at Ripley in 1877. He was ordained to the full work of the gospel ministry at Bethlehem Church in 1879, Elders G. W. Mefford, William Pangburn, and J. P. Daugherty officiating. He was elected clerk of the conference at Russellville, Ohio, in 1880. He served the Ohio State Christian Association as secretary of Sunday schools, and later as secretary of the Association for many years. He was elected secretary of Sunday schools for the American Christian Convention at Marion, Indiana, in 1890. In 1894, at Norfolk, Virginia, he was elected secretary pro tem. of the American Christian Convention, and in October of the same year was elected secretary of the Convention. While living in Clermont he served the county two years as president of the Sunday-School Union. Since located in Eaton, Ohio, he has served Preble County one year in a like capacity, and also one year as president of the Bible Society.

The subject of our sketch has filled all these responsible places with an efficiency seldom, if ever, excelled, and still serves in many of the more important trusts of the Christian Church with credit to himself and with honor to the several interests he so ably represents. Besides, he is the senior editor of the Living Christian, and also the honored pastor of the Christian Church at Eaton, Ohio. As to his opportunities for education, with no earthly college doors opened to him, he went forth from the public schools of his native county, with Bible in hand, to study divine classics from the star-spangled dome of God's celestial college and to catch and utilize the richest treasures of thought from the object lessons of experience and observation upon the campus of nature's university. Hence his life presents the seeming anomaly of an educated self-made man in the most important sense, having but little need of a college diploma to open his way to fields of usefulness. In a qualified sense, he was born a grammarian, a formulator, an organizer, a public speaker, an orator, a preacher of the gospel in faith and verity, seeming always to be the right man in the right place. To know him is but to love him.

J. P. DAUGHERTY.

Educate the Children.

IN the present age it is possible for every parent to educate his children, and the parent who does not do it is certainly not doing his duty in behalf of his child. He who educates his child gives him an estate that is more valuable than a farm or bank stock or railroad shares, an estate that he can never lose, that can never be given for lawyers' fees; something that is a continuous source of pleasure, profit, and usefulness: something that is only increased by use.—O. B. Whitaker.

Do You Read a Church Paper?

IF you are not reading a church paper you are neglecting a great means of grace, and it is your duty at once to subscribe for one. Why not have a religious paper in your home as well as a secular? Did you ever see the Herald of Gospel Liberty? If not, send for a sample copy.

The American Christian Convention.

By Rev. J. F. Burnett, Secretary, Eaton, Ohio.

THE Christians began holding general meetings as early as 1819, and met annually until 1831. The meetings were presided over at different times by Elders John Rand, Mark Fernald, Daniel Hix, John Spoor, Harvey Sullings, David Millard, and Benjamin Taylor. In 1820 the meeting was held at Windham, Connecticut, and convened October 28. The main work of this meeting seems to have been the collecting and preparation of material for the Christian Register, which, in 1821, contained the names of those present and a list, so far as could then be obtained, of the ministers and churches by States. Robert Foster was secretary of this meeting. At the meeting of October, 1819, Elder Frederick Plummer and Dr. Rogers Huntingdon were appointed to obtain calendar for an annual register, for the use and benefit of those who were in Christian fellowship. From 1831 the meetings had an interim of three years, and have, since 1834, been held quadrennially. The last meeting was at Haverhill, Mass., Oct. 9-15, 1894, was largely attended, and very much was accomplished.

The record of 1866 begins as follows: "Minutes of the United States Quadrennial Christian Convention, convened at Marshall, Michigan." To this convention a committee on organization made report, recommending the adoption of a constitution, which begins as follows: "This organization shall be styled the American Christian Convention," and the minutes of that session read: "The above report of the committee was taken up article by article, and finally adopted as a whole, as above recorded." The question of incorporation was discussed at the Oshawa Convention in 1870, and fully disposed of at a special session held at Troy, Ohio, in June, 1872. September 21, 1874, incorporation papers were issued by Paul H. Williams, recorder of Hamilton County, Ohio.

The Convention consists of the following departments: Educational, missionary, publishing, financial, Sabbath-school, and Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. Each department is managed by a secretary, subject to the decision of the Convention or its Executive Committee.

The membership of the Convention is composed of the presidents of our colleges and one trustee of the Biblical School, presidents of conferences and associations, and delegates elected by conferences, one for each five hundred members or fractional part thereof.

THE WORK.

The spirit and purpose of the Convention are non-sectarian, and its work is to carry forward the gospel of Jesus Christ, unfettered by ecclesiasticism and sectarian bigotry. Its missionary and church-extension interests are rapidly developing and materializing in city missions, home and foreign laborers, church buildings, and increased contributions.

Note.—Last year we received from all sources for the Convention $951.63, but only $684.44 from the collections. Of the amount reported this year, all but $50 has come from public contributions. We have a gain this year in the A. C. C. funds of $186.33.

Note.—It will be seen that Educational, Home Missions, and the Convention's funds have been increased over last year; also Franklinton and Starkey, and that, too, in the year of unheard-of hard times. One hundred and eighty-six dollars and ninety-eight cents were given last year for purposes for which there has been no call whatever this year, and for the building in Tokio, Japan, last year there was given $1,289.76, and this year only $57.36. It will also be seen that we received four hundred and thirty-two more contributions this year than last. This of itself is a great success, and indicates a healthy growth and a ripening interest in our work. If we could just be content to work our plans, instead of everlastingly planning, we would accomplish something after awhile. Every dollar raised by churches or given by individuals should be represented on the Convention books and go through the Convention treasury.

THE OPEN-AIR PATRIOTIC SONG SERVICE, CHORUS OF 4,000 VOICES UPON THE CAPITOL STEPS, AT WASHINGTON, D. C., DURING THE FIFTEENTH INTERNATIONAL CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION, JULY, 1886.

REV. P. A. CANADA, SECRETARY Y. P. S. C. E. DEPARTMENT, AMERICAN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

REV. P. A. CANADA, our Endeavor Secretary, who has proven himself such an earnest and faithful worker, is a native of Indiana. He was born December 18, 1859. His boyhood days were spent on a farm, with limited educational advantages. In 1877 he entered Union Christian College, and graduated in 1883, spending two years of that time teaching school. He served as principal of the Greentown, Indiana, schools one year, and then attended Oberlin Seminary.

In 1888 he was married to Miss Addie Spencer, of Liberty, Indiana.

He was ordained at Columbus Grove, Ohio, in 1886. He was pastor at Versailles, Ohio, two and one half years, and at Conneaut, Ohio, three years, at the expiration of which he accepted a call to Albany, New York, where he continues his labors.

He is the beacon light of our Endeavor Department.

To know him is to respect and admire him for his loyalty to the cause.

With the help of these efficient conference Christian Endeavor secretaries and others, we have organized the Endeavor work in many places. Much valuable information has been gathered. We have a list of 375 societies, reporting an aggregate membership of 8,872 active and 2,681 associate members (making a total reported membership of 11,553, not counting the honorary membership), contributing last year $1,364.75 for missions and $1,580.59 for other work, making a total of $2,945.34.

A large number of the corresponding secretaries of the 375 societies failed to give any statistical reports, as may be seen by looking at the printed list, and some conference secretaries failed to report the correct number of societies, so that we may safely say that we have fully five hundred societies, and the membership and contributions are fully double the numbers given above.

The work of this department is arduous, involving, as it does, a large correspondence and much clerical work, as well as the preparation of much matter for the press. Also, the expense of the department is not inconsequential. But all is borne cheerfully, gladly, by the General Secretary and his self-denying conference secretaries. The General Secretary would urge that each society send to the annual conference a sum equal to five cents per capita to be used as a fund for extending the work. This would enable the conference Christian Endeavor secretary to distribute literature, and even visit needy fields in the interest of Christian Endeavor extension.

Also each conference Christian Endeavor secretary should urge each society to observe Christian Endeavor Day. As the young people in our Sunday schools observe Children's Day in June, and make it of great benefit to our Home Missionary Fund, so we ought to make Christian Endeavor Day in February distinctively Foreign Missionary Day. At any rate, we have about ten thousand active members; probably more. Shall we not have for our motto and standard, "One dollar from each Endeavorer each year for missions" until Christ our Lord is crowned King of men as he is already King of saints?

The Christian Endeavor Platform.

(From President Clark's Annual Address at the Fifteenth International Convention, Washington, D.C., July, 1896.)

OUR Christian Endeavor platform was built for us at the beginning by Providence. Its strength has been revealed by our history. My task is an easy one, for I only need write in words what I believe God has written in deeds. If I do not state our platform correctly, I do not ask you to stand upon it. But if I can read our history aright, these are its chief planks:

First. Our covenant prayer-meeting pledge,—the magna charta of Christian Endeavor.

Second. Our consecration meeting,—guaranteeing the spiritual character of the society.

Third. Our committees,—giving to each active member some specific and definite work “for Christ and the Church.”

Fourth. Our interdenominational and international fellowship, based upon our denominational and national loyalty.

Fifth. Our individual independence and self-government, free from control of United Society, state, or local union, convention, or committee; all of which exist for fellowship and inspiration, not for legislation.

Sixth. Our individual subordination as societies to our own churches, of which we claim to be an integral, organic, inseparable part.

Seventh. Our Christian citizenship plank,—our country for Christ, but, as a society, no entangling political alliances. Our missionary plank,—Christ for the world.

Eighth. Our ultimate purpose,—to deepen the spiritual life and raise the religious standards of young people the world over.

Christian Endeavor Facts.

ACCORDING to the latest reports from the General Secretary, there are in the world over 47,000 societies, with an aggregate membership of over 2,800,000. Last year from the Juniors 21,500 and from the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor 210,400 joined the churches of America. Given for missions last year, over $154,000, and for other benevolences, over $206,000.

The first Christian Endeavor Society was organized in February, 1881, by Rev. Francis E. Clark, pastor of Williston Congregational Church, Portland, Maine.

Christian Endeavor is not an end, but a means to an end. It does not exist for its own sake, but only “for Christ and the Church.”

Christian Endeavor is not apart from, but a part of, the Church. It is a hand, feet, tongue, eyes, heartan instrument. Happy the church and pastor who know how to use this sanctified instrument.

God can use Christian Endeavor to promote temperance, good citizenship, missions, and all good causes.

Christian Endeavor does not supplant any agency of the Church, such as Sunday school, missionary and aid societies, and prayer-meeting. Its object is to build all these up.

Christian Endeavor conventions are doing a grand work in promoting interdenominational fellowship, which is a phase of Christian union. For this reason alone all our pastors and workers should attend these conventions. These conventions also result in the ingathering of many souls and the deepening of the spiritual life of many who are hungering after the better things of God's kingdom.

REV. N. W. CROWELL was born near Hamlet, N. Y., September 20, 1856. He was a close student during his boyhood days, allowing nothing but sickness to keep him from school. December 18, 1877, he married Rose L. Yeager of Hare Creek, Pa. January, 1881, he was converted and united with the Hare Creek Christian Church. He immediately felt a call to preach, but resisted the Spirit two years, until he felt, "Woe unto me if I preach not the gospel."

September, 1886, he entered the C. B. I. for four years' study. April 1, 1892, he accepted a unanimous call to North Rush, N. Y., which has prospered under his labors, 65 having been added to the roll. His people give liberally because they love the cause. At our denominational rally, October 7, 1896, at Rochester, N. Y., he was elected Christian Endeavor Secretary for New York State.

REV. N. W. CROWELL, NORTH RUSH, N. Y.

A Call to New York State Endeavorers.

By Rev. N. W. Crowell, State Endeavor Secretary.

THANK God for the Christian Endeavor movement. Its spirit imbibed as an actuating influence will bring the followers of Christ just where they ought to be, where God can bless their efforts, and where they can save the world. "That they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me."

As the Christian Endeavor society is doing the work of the Christian Church, let us all rally at once, for the Master's business is urgent. What we need is wise plans executed. We fear not for the wisdom or plans of our American Christian Convention Secretary, and if each local society will respond and endeavor, we shall rejoice in success.

Between now and the state rally, at Elmira, in 1897, we can place a missionary in the field, and it would not require a great effort. One hundred societies, averaging twenty members each, paying only one cent per member a week, would be sufficient.

What we need to-day is a baptism of the Holy Spirit and more systematic giving. Let each society take a share, or more, as resolved at the state rally. Begin early to plan for a good collection Endeavor Day (February, 1897). Let us strive to be efficient Endeavorers. That means pray much. "Ask, and it shall be given you." It also means an educated intellect.

REV. W. P. FLETCHER, OSHAWA, ONTARIO.

THE Oshawa Christian Church was organized in 1831. For years the people worshiped in barns and log schoolhouses. In 1843 a chapel was built. In 1875, under the labors of Rev. J. Tatton, the present church building was erected. Elder Tatton, however, died soon after its dedication without occupying its pulpit. It was dedicated by Drs. N. Summerbell and W. Hathaway. Present membership is seventy-five. Rev. W. Percy Fletcher, the present pastor, was born in 1871, and was converted at fifteen. After studying in high schools he entered Queen's University at Kingston, Ontario, and in the spring of '96 took the degree of A.B. He was ordained in June, 1895. He is a good pastor and loved by his people. He is clerk of his conference and superintendent of its Christian Endeavor Societies. Brother Fletcher rode 1,000 miles on his bicycle in the autumn of 1895 to give an account in each of the Ontario Christian churches of the Boston Christian Endeavor Convention.

REV. D. B. ATKINSON, MUNCIE, INDIANA.

REV. DANIEL BENONIA ATKINSON was born in Indiana March 5, 1869. After attending public schools until he was seventeen he devoted four years to winter teaching and attending summer normal. September, 1890, he entered Union Christian College to prepare himself for his life work in the ministry, and in 1894 he graduated from its classical and theological departments. REV. G. A. CONIBEAR, FREETOWN, MASS.

REV. G. A. CONIBEAR is one of the best known, if not the best known, of our Christian Endeavor workers. It was largely through his efforts that the Christian Endeavor Department of the A. C. C. was organized at the Haverhill (Mass.) Convention in 1894. With boundless enthusiasm he threw himself into the work, and soon had most of our conferences organized with a Christian Endeavor Department and a Secretary. He earnestly advocated among the New England societies the plan of supporting a missionary in Japan. The New England societies responded enthusiastically and, as a result, Miss Penrod (see p. 52) is supported in her field. Brother Conibear is located at Freetown, Mass., and is President of the New England Convention.

REV. P. W. McREYNOLDS, MARSHALL, MICH.

THE Marshall Christian Church was organized in 1850. In 1851 the present building was opened. In November, 1893, the church was virtually dead, when Rev. P. W. McReynolds took charge. At his first service only twelve persons pledged their support, and the Sunday school needed an entirely new start. The church now has 130 members, Sunday school 200 members, and both Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor Societies are in a healthy condition. The church now has the neatest audience room in the city. The Marshall Chronicle says: "This has been accomplished through the untiring efforts of the pastor, Rev. P. W. McReynolds. No pastor in Marshall has a larger circle of friends, and none witness such visible results from their efforts." Rev. McReynolds is but twenty-four years old. At twenty graduated in the theological course at Union Christian College. In 1895 completed the classical course at Hiram College, Ohio. Brother McReynolds is loved by his people.

The A. C. C. and the Y. P. S. C. E.

By Rev. P. A. Canada.

At the Quadrennial Convention at Haverhill, Mass., October, 1894, the Christian Endeavor Department of the Convention was born. This is therefore the youngest child of the Convention, and is exceedingly active and vigorous. From the very first this child has been able to stand alone, and has never required any nursing. It has not only fed itself, but has been useful in helping to feed the other children, especially the missionary twins known as Home and Foreign, having a decided preference for the latter. Why this preference? Because the latter seems to have fewer friends and even some bitter foes in the household. Some of the fathers advocated casting out the latter. Also, the Endeavor babe noticed that the former was fed and supported by the large child known as Sunday School. So in order that there might be no conflict or confusion Christian Endeavor adopted the weaker of the twins known as Foreign Missions, and is just beginning to discover that the more it does for this weak one the more its own strength and wealth increases. The stronger Foreign Missions grows, the stronger Home and Sunday School and all other legitimate children of the A. C. C. become.

Dropping the figure, our Christian Endeavor Department is most flourishing. The work of this department is mainly twofold: First, to extend Christian Endeavor to every church north, south, east, and west. Aided by a corps of consecrated district or conference Christian Endeavor secretaries, the work is rapidly extending. Secondly, to organize more thoroughly the work as it already exists. It is desirable that every society should be a genuine Christian Endeavor Society, true to the pledge and to every Christian Endeavor principle, that every member be loyal to Christ and faithful to the church and pastor—true yoke-fellows. * * * —Herald of Gospel Liberty, Nov. 26, 1896.

REV. C. A. TILLINGHAST, STANFORDVILLE, N. Y.,

Secretary Sunday-School Department, American Christian Convention, and Professor of Biblical History and Christian Missions at the Christian Biblical Institute.

AMONG the prominent men of the Christian Church is our beloved Professor of Biblical History and Christian Missions at the Biblical Institute, the Rev. C. A. Tillinghast. He was born in Foster, Providence County, Rhode Island, on the 26th of May, 1840. Brother Tillinghast has always been a painstaking and industrious student. He is possessed of a clear and analytical mind, and masters whatever he undertakes. As a preacher, he is logical and forceful; his diction is faultless, and his thought and manner convincing.

He began to preach in 1865, and was ordained to the Christian ministry and installed as pastor at Summit, Rhode Island, on September 22, 1867. He organized the church at Summit, and on the Sunday following his ordination, baptized 32 candidates and received to membership. And he was a settled pastor continuously for 27 years, at Summit, R. I., for three years at Somerset, Massachusetts, and Steep Brook for 9 years, and at Providence, Rhode Island, from 1879 to September 1, 1893, when, owing to failing health, he was compelled to resign.

From the beginning of the school year in 1895, Brother Tillinghast has eminently filled the chairs of Biblical History and Christian Missions at the Biblical School, Stanfordville, N. Y. Here, as everywhere, the responsive heart, the kindly nature, the clear and comprehensive thought of this scholarly Christian minister characterizes the man. Prof. Tillinghast's work, and personal force, and wise counsels in the school and home of the students are invaluable. No man is better fitted for such an important position.

LESTER HOWARD.

Sunday-School Department of the American Christian Convention.

By Rev. C. A. Tillinghast, Secretary, Stanfordville, N. Y.

THE Sunday school and Y. P. S. C. E. have become most important agencies in all church work. The latter is especially the school of applied Christianity, in which our young people are drilled in the practical application of the principles learned in the Sunday school. That these principles should be correctly and thoroughly taught is a matter of fundamental importance. The Sunday school has come to be the Bible school of the church, both for young and old, thus relieving the pulpit of much of its former work and very materially increasing the efficiency of Biblical preaching.

The better his congregation understands the Bible, the easier it is for the preacher to enforce his thought; the more exclusively he can give himself to the presentation of practical duties and the awakening of inspiration to do them. The increased enthusiasm given to the Sunday-school work by the adoption of the International Sunday-school System is one of the most significant ways in which God is fitting his church for the great conflict of the coming century. The strong interest naturally awakened by the thought that people in all parts of the world are studying the same lesson each week; the vast amount of exegetical and practical truth brought out by the focusing of the world's best thought upon it; the enthusiasm and spiritual unity begotten by national, international, and interdenominational conventions are sufficient reasons for its universal adoption. I strongly recommend all our Sunday schools to use it.

And the importance of Sunday-school work is so great that it is necessary for all our conferences to organize a special department in its interest. This I have been urging upon them for the past two years. The response is comparatively slow. Of the seventy-one conferences and state conventions which I have entered upon my books, only twenty-two (a little less than one-third) have such a department, so far as they have reported to me. There is no end to ways in which a wide-awake Sunday-school secretary can increase the efficiency of the schools of his conference.

The holding of Institutes for the discussion of new and important topics in sections not easily reached by larger conventions is one which has been found to be very helpful. Two or three schools, in sparsely settled districts, can be combined for such work. An interesting program, arranged by the secretary, can be used in several different sections of a conference, so reaching all.

Home Department work is very fascinating, broad in its application, and rich in results. It carries the knowledge and comfort of the gospel to many lonely hearts not otherwise reached. Pastor's calls are too often like angel visits, "few and far between,"—and, alas! too often unlike angel visits, in that they are, not unfrequently, mere social calls or purely perfunctory, conveying no divine message. The angels always bring some definite word from God when they come, and so will the Sunday-school lesson when properly studied.

I hope that conference secretaries will thoroughly inform themselves with reference to this work, and use their utmost efforts to develop it. I hope also that they will keep constantly before their schools the importance of constant giving for missionary purposes. Nothing will more surely enlarge the hearts of our children; and with the habit once formed, the coming generation will give spontaneously and largely for this, the most important work of the Church during the coming century. I am sure that the one-cent-a-week plan for children, and two cents for adults, is the best plan which has been suggested, and that it will give most gratifying and surprising results if vigorously pushed. Whatever I can do to assist secretaries in carrying out these various lines of work I shall be glad to do, if they will correspond with me.

I wish once more to call attention to the importance of collecting and forwarding to me careful statistics.

No question is more frequently asked me than how to study the Sunday-school lesson. In an article published in the Herald of Gospel Liberty two or three years ago I answered the question to my best ability, and perhaps I can make no better use of the space left me than by reproducing it in a more permanent form. No question can be of more vital importance. The method is substantially the one I am using in training the students of the C. B. L. for Sunday-school work, only I add to it the making of sermon sketches, sometimes selecting a text for them which involves some central truth of the lesson, and sometimes leaving them to choose for themselves. The article referred to was entitled:

Whether they are helps or hindrances depends upon the use we make of them. It takes brains to use brains, and he who depends upon borrowed thought makes sorry work. Many a Sunday-school teacher lumbers his head with thoughts too large and heavy for him to handle and entirely unsuited to his purpose. How to study the lesson and how to use the means is an art, and he who does not study how to study will study to little purpose. I offer a few suggestions in the line of the plan which I have tested by years of practice:

1. Read the lesson—not from the Quarterly alone, but from the Bible. Read the connections, so as to have a continuous reading from lesson to lesson. Read parallel passages and compare. If the lesson is in the Gospels, have a good harmony, so that you may have the different passages side by side before your eye.

2. Pray. The Spirit of Truth is absolutely essential to the understanding of truth. This is a universal philosophy, true of the lowest forms of truth, but especially true of the higher, and rising in significance in direct proportion to the subtlety of the truth in hand, and most important of all in spiritual truth. As well try to pierce midnight with the unaided eye as to try to understand God's Word without the Holy Spirit. As well try to run an engine without steam as to try to teach without it. It is the Guide into all truth that Christ has sent to our aid—the Teacher of teachers—which we neglect to our everlasting confusion. Pray for it every time.

3. Acquaint yourself with facts—dates, persons, places, customs, etc. Get all the information you can bearing upon the subject. Carefully study the meaning of the text —the exact thought intended to be conveyed.

4. Make your practical applications. This is where many fail; it is one of the especially weak points in Sunday-school teaching. It is one thing to bring a large store of knowledge to a class; it is quite another to teach them how to use it—to show them the relation it sustains to their own individual lives. It is one thing to bring them a measure of meal; it is quite another to so put the "leaven" into it that it shall become living bread. Yet if you fail here you fail in the most vital point.

Seek to find what there is in the lesson to meet your own personal need, and of the individuals of your class. Draw these lessons for yourself. A little practice will soon develop the ability. Take each verse and write out one or more practical lessons, however trite. Little by little, as the habit grows, the suggestions will multiply and become more profound and rich. And they are all the more interesting and effective because they are your own. Truth which you discover for yourself comes to you with all the force of a new revelation. It enters into and possesses you, and in a certain sense it is a new revelation. Truth is prismatic, and every human soul is a new prism unlike every other, passing through which the truth takes on new shades of meaning and new forms of beauty. It is true that the Book of revelation is closed—the letter is never to be added to, but the meanings that may be evolved from it by the magician of life are as infinite as the thoughts that may be expressed by the letters of the alphabet. God's revelations will not end until the last chapter of human history is written. Let the truth pass through you and receive the new impress of your own personality—yourself a new revelation from God. Add something to the sum total of revealed truth. Truth is kaleidoscopic. Every new combination adds a new pattern to its sublime forms. Let your own personal relations give a new turn to it.

Charcoal and the diamond are precisely alike in substance. A different arrangement (probably) of the atoms that compose the molecules of each makes the difference between them—a mere matter of relative positions. Put yourself in the relation of a discoverer to truth and it will be like the diamond—radiant with light and beauty; put yourself in the relation of a borrower and it is too often like charcoal—opaque, lusterless, sometimes smut.

And truth that you have discovered for yourself you know how to apply. You see at once the bearing of it. It is, in a certain sense, native to you. A small truth fully grasped is far better than a large one half understood, as the simple sling was more effective in David's hand than Saul's sword. Gather your own pebbles and sling them as best you may, and Goliath's sword will soon be flashing in your hands.

5. And lastly, turn to your lesson helps. After the lesson has been thus carefully studied and applied they will be real helps—confirming and more clearly defining your own thought—giving new suggestions and carrying the thought of the lesson, to which you have given direction, on to higher and more specific conclusions.

The International Uniform Lesson System.

I. INTRODUCTION.

1. The International Uniform Lesson System as it exists to-day is the growth of the ideas of several persons, and is the result of the evolution of several plans. We can in this place only point out the principal points in the history.

II. BEGINNINGS.

1. The "Limited Lesson Scheme" was inaugurated in 1825 and was so called to distinguish it from the then existing custom of teaching on the whole Bible and memorizing verses. To limit the lesson to a given passage or section of scripture was the plan. It was indorsed and largely extended by the American Sunday-School Union, later under the title of "Selected Lessons."

2. Conventions and Institutes had been inaugurated, and had done much to mold sentiment in favor of plans to improve Sunday-school instruction.

3. The First National Convention, held in 1832, and those following attracted attention as never before to the Sunday-school movement.

4. The Sunday-School Teachers' Quarterly was begun in 1865 by Rev. J. H. Vincent (now bishop). This afterward became the National Sunday-School Teacher, monthly. The Quarterly had given a series of lessons prepared by the London Sunday-School Union, and another by the editor.

5. Rev. J. H. Vincent, who had been editing the Quarterly under the direction and in the employ of the Chicago Sunday-School Union, moved to New York, where he began the "Berean Series" for his denomination.

6. Rev. H. L. Hammond and Rev. C. R. Blackall in turn were editors of the Chicago publications, and they were followed by the Rev. Edward Eggleston, who made the lessons in the National Sunday-School Teacher quite popular.

7. Other publications adopted the Teacher's course of lessons, giving their own expositions, among them The Standard (Baptist), of Chicago, in which Mr. B. F. Jacobs gave, in December, 1867, the notes for the first Sunday in January, 1868, the first lesson notes ever published regularly by any weekly paper in this country.

III. NATIONAL UNIFORMITY.

1. In 1867 Mr. B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, conceived the idea of extending the benefit of uniformity to the whole country, and so to the whole world, and began to agitate the subject before conventions and Sunday-school associations.

2. The plan met with strong opposition from many quarters, but it continued to gain friends.

3. Mr. Jacobs, who had charge of the separate conference of superintendents at the time, reported to the National Convention at Newark in 1869, "That a uniform lesson is essential to the highest success of every school, and that it is practical and desirable to unite all the schools of our whole country upon one and the same series."

4. At Mr. Jacobs' suggestion representatives from 29 religious publishing houses met August 8, 1871, to consider the subject of uniform lessons.

5. This meeting of publishers finally resolved to try the experiment, and appointed a committee of five to select a series of lessons for 1872. The five appointed were Drs. Eggleston, Vincent, and Newton, Rev. H. C. McCook and B. F. Jacobs.

6. Three of this committee, in the absence of the two others, decided it could not be done then, that a series of lessons could not be agreed upon, and sent a notice to the papers headed "Uniform Lessons—The Failure."

7. By Mr. Jacobs' persistence the decision was reversed the next morning, the card to the public recalled, and a notice published that a series of lessons would be forthcoming soon.

IV. FIRST SERIES OF LESSONS.

1. The first series of uniform lessons was that prepared for the publishers for 1872 by B. F. Jacobs, Dr. J. H. Vincent, and Edward Eggleston.

V. LESSON SYSTEM ADOPTED.

1. The plan was adopted in the Fifth National Convention, held in Indianapolis, April 16-19, 1872, and the first International Lesson Committee was appointed.

VI. BECAME INTERNATIONAL.

1. When the agitation for national uniformity was going on, or after it was assured, Dr. J. H. Vincent was in correspondence with the leaders in Great Britain with a view to the adoption of their same series of lessons.

2. This was consummated through the London Sunday-School Union, and English corresponding members were added to the Lesson Committee.

3. To-day the same series of lessons are used round the world, the religious bodies not adopting them being insignificant in comparison with the millions who are using them.—Selected.

The Home Class Department.

I. INTRODUCTION.

To recognize the purpose of the Sunday school is to recognize the need of special plans to bring under Biblical instruction that vast host of persons not brought into Sunday school by the ordinary and long established means. The Home Class Department stands at the very head of the most modern methods for this purpose, as it is the thorough organizing of practical ideas and making them effectual in Sunday-school evangelization.

II. ORIGIN.

While there were branch, neighborhood, mission, and even family Sunday schools prior to the year 1881, it remained for Wm. A. Duncan, Ph. D., of Syracuse, N. Y., then and still the Executive Chairman of the New York State Sunday-School Association, to originate and put in operation, first in his state, and then throughout the world, the Home Class Department; both to bring all the classes into vital connection with some organized school and to have the schools extend their benefits to countless other classes, and to individuals not attending Sunday school.

III. DEVELOPMENT.

1. The first leaflets were issued in 1881. Dr. Duncan began the work in connection with the New York State Sunday-School Association, and the field workers began the organization of departments, the practical effort to realize the motto of their association, "The Bible in the hands of the living teacher to every man, woman, and child in the state."

2. The work soon spread to other states, and later to foreign countries.

3. The International Home Department Association was organized with Dr. W. A. Duncan, Syracuse, N. Y., president; Dr. M. C. Hazard, Boston, editor; W. N. Hartshorn, Boston, treasurer; W. H. Hall, West Hartford, Conn., secretary, and J. B. Patton, D.D., Nottingham, F. F. Belsey, London, and Chas. Waters, London, vice-presidents for England.

IV. EXPLANATION.

a. Aims—1. Promotion of Bible study. 2. The increase of attendance on the main school. 3. The increase of attendance upon the services of the church and the formation of a bond of union between non-attendants and the church. 4. The salvation of souls. 5. The increase of church membership. 6. The increase of contributions to the benevolent causes of the church. 7. The promotion of Christian usefulness.

b. Definitions—1. Class. A Home Class is made up of one or more persons pledged to study the Sunday-school lesson at home, in connection with some Sunday school, at least a half hour each week.

A class may be: (a) A class of individuals each studying alone, but under the supervision of one visitor; (b) a family class; (c) a correspondence class; (d) a neighborhood class; (e) a combination of several or all of these.

2. Department: A Home Department is made up of all of the home classes formed in connection with any Sunday school, and is a recognized branch of the school under a superintendent appointed in accordance with the rules governing the school.

V. CONCLUSION.

The Home Class Department is the outreaching arm of the church; that arm is reaching the non-attendants and the unsaved by the thousands. No church or Sunday school can afford not to have a Home Class Department.—Selected.

REV. J. G. BISHOP, DAYTON, OHIO,

Secretary Missionary and Church-Extension Department, American Christian Convention.

REV. J. G. BISHOP was born in Smith County, Virginia, September 14, 1833; was converted in Madison County, Iowa, September 10, 1848, and a few months thereafter joined the Christian Church—of which he has been a member and for whose interests and enterprises he has labored ever since.

He joined the Des Moines, Iowa, Christian Conference in 1855; was ordained at Winterset, Iowa, September 20, 1856, Dr. N. Summerbell preaching the sermon.

Antedating church houses in that new country, his preaching for the first few years was in log (dwelling) houses, school houses, barns, and groves. In doing this, he rode thousands of miles on horseback.

He has served as pastor in the churches at Winterset, Peru and Polk City, Iowa; Bible Chapel, Mo., (where he organized the first church and built the first Christian church house in that part of the state, which formed the nucleus from which has since grown up the Northeastern Missouri Conference); Springfield and Springboro, Pa.; Hartwick, N. Y.; Vienna, N. J., and Eaton, Ohio.

In the early day—in Iowa—when the principal duty of the delegates to conference was to secure a preacher for the year, the subject of our sketch had a "call" to eight different churches in his own conference at one session.

Being blessed with both pastoral and revival gifts, his services have often been in demand for protracted meeting work outside his own pastorates.

He was secretary of the Des Moines Conference for a number of years; was secretary of the Iowa State Christian Missionary Society for a time; was president of the Erie Conference one year and of the New York State Association four years; has been a member of the Missionary Board for ten years, and secretary of the Missionary and Church Extension Department of the American Christian Convention for the last six years.

He is editor and publisher of the Christian Missionary, a live missionary magazine, published in the interest of our beloved Zion.

Christ's cause has been greatly built up through the efforts of Bro. Bishop.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

"Beginning at Jerusalem . . . to the uttermost part of the earth."

THE HOME WORK.—ITS BEGINNINGS.

WHILE nearly all of the early ministers of the Christian Church were practically home missionaries, traveling and preaching, with little or no salary, conducting revivals and establishing churches, still, strange to say, it was late in the present century before they commenced missionary work in any good systematic way or organized form.

The first efforts put forth in this direction were by local conferences. Several conferences organized missionary societies, but through lack of cohesion, and system in raising money, but little money was raised, and consequently little work was done. A few of those conferences, however, have maintained their societies, have systematized their work, have raised some money and done good work.

Later, the conferences of New England organized the "New England Christian Convention," and the conferences in some of the other states united in forming State Associations, or State Conferences, these all having a missionary department. These departments have all done more or less missionary work within their own bounds.

When the American Christian Convention was organized it had a missionary department, but for the lack of any specific system for raising missionary money, this department was practically inoperative for a number of years.

For the quadrennium closing with the Convention of 1878 the Secretary of the Missionary Department reported, by letter, that he had

REV. A. D. WOODWORTH, A.M.

PROF. WOODWORTH, for the last four years superintendent of the mission in Japan, was reared in the Christian Church at Milford Center, Ohio; graduated from Oberlin College, and was a professor in Union Christian College, Indiana, nine years before going to Japan in 1892.

done no work and had no money in the treasury for work. In 1878 Rev. J. P. Watson was elected secretary of the department, and soon began work under the name of the "Children's Mission," calling upon the children for dimes, promising them a missionary as soon as sufficient funds were in hand. Rev. S. W. P. Richardson, of Ohio, was appointed the first home missionary,

TOSHIO OHTA.

MR. OHTA has been connected with our Japan Mission almost from its beginning, being indeed the first convert baptized by Brother Jones. From the first he has been a helper as interpreter, teacher, preacher. about January, 1879. The Children's Mission, as inaugurated and pushed by Brother Watson, grew in favor with the children and with the older people.

Dr. N. Summerbell, of sainted memory, was heard to remark: "One of the best things among us is Brother Watson's Dime Mission." Its income was not then confined to dimes, and others than children gave. Rev. J. G. Wilson and Emily, his wife, left by bequest, nearly $3,000 as a permanent fund to this mission, which is still bringing its semi-annual income to carry forward this work.

It was not long until several "Children's Missionaries" were in the field. Up to the New Bedford Convention, in 1876, these were, in the main, men appointed by the local conferences to labor within their own bounds, indorsed by Brother Watson, Missionary Secretary, and assisted by the children's dimes, in sums ranging from $50 to $100 annually.

By an amended constitution in 1886, the General Convention provided for a Missionary Board of five, of which the Missionary Department Secretary is one. This board manages the business of the department. It meets annually, the second Wednesday in October. It has systematized its work, as experience and increased knowledge have from time to time indicated; has adopted by-laws for the government of its action in relation to meetings, making appropriations, appointing missionaries in both the home and foreign field, etc.

OUR FOREIGN WORK—ITS BEGINNINGS

At last the spell was broken. The scales began to fall from our eyes, and our vision was broadening, our insight was deepening so that we could begin to see that "God loved the world:" that Jesus "tasted death for every man:" that the gospel was to be preached to "all nations and to every creature."

As the beginnings of the Christian movement were in the south, if one section had priority of another in point of time, so, whatever thoughts may have been in the minds of brethren in different parts of the country, the first practical steps towards foreign missionary work by our people seem to have been taken in the SOUTH.

On the 8th day of April, 1883, Rev. P. T. Klapp preached a sermon at the Moore Christian Church, Moore County, N. C., in which he gave an account of the cannibals and of other horrible conditions of the heathen. At the close Brother Rora Womack, who could neither read nor write, said, "Brother Klapp, if that is the true condition of the poor heathen, I feel like I want to do something for them," and handed him 35 cents, all the money he had, saying: "If our people will not use it for the benefit of the heathen, I want you to give it to some denomination that will."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH, NORFOLK, VA.—A HOME MISSION ENTERPRISE.

THIS church was established by the Mission Board, in connection with the Eastern Virginia Christian Conference. The church was organized March 17, 1890; the building was dedicated May 1, 1892—a successful enterprise. Rev. C. J. Jones, D.D., was the first pastor; Rev. J. P. Barrett, D.D., is the present pastor.

Brother Klapp says, (I take these facts from the centennial number of the Christian Sun): "I took the money and took the rebuke. Then and there I made up my mind to let that 35 cents be the beginning of a fund in the Christian Church for missionary work. I found Rev. D. F. Jones, J. D. Wicker, and S. B. Klapp to be in sympathy with me. We encouraged each other in the new enterprise, and during the latter part of the year we took collections with the view of beginning foreign missionary work."

On the night before the annual meeting of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference, November, 1893, these four brethren spent the greater portion of the night, not upon their beds in sleep, but upon their knees in prayer, and in preparation of a paper to present to their conference looking towards the establishing of a mission in foreign lands.

The paper was presented, these four brethren and an M. E. minister present speaking in its favor. Brother Klapp closed his speech by presenting the conference with $100.26 as the result of the collections from six or eight poor churches, which was a proof that our laymen were more ready for this work than the ministers. Brother Klapp says: "We did not get so much as an encouraging look from our leading ministerial brethren during this discussion, much less a helpful speech."

But the leaven was in the meal, and has been doing its work. Our brethren in the south, as a rule, are now friends and supporters of our foreign work.

IN THE NORTH.

But if the south was in advance of the north in this foreign missionary movement, it could have been by only a few months. During the summer of this year—1883—Rev. J. P. Watson, D.D., then of Troy, Ohio, published in the Herald of Gospel Liberty, a series of articles on foreign missions, urging our people to take up the work. These articles were not without effect. Other brethren began to speak and write favorably on the subject, and soon money began to come in for the work; the first received was one dollar from Isaac

THIS building is two and a half stories, with upper and lower verandas, and has nine rooms besides halls and bath room. This is our mission headquarters in Japan. The means for the purchase of this building were furnished by the Rhode Island and Massachusetts Conference.

Kay, M. D., of Springfield, Ohio. During 1884 the receipts became quite frequent, though in small amounts. During the latter part of this year the Northern New Jersey quarterly conference took a public collection which was, probably, the first collection taken by our people in the north for foreign missions

In New England the sentiment was growing. In 1885 Rev. Ellen G. Gustin preached her first foreign missionary sermon, "in which," she says, "I made a thorough confession of my neglect and ignorance of Christ's will upon this subject." It was during this year that the Missionary Department was opened in the Herald (which is still continued), thus leading to a larger discussion of the subject. There was gradual growth in interest and increase in funds, so that at the New Bedford Convention in October, 1886, it was decided to commence the work.

THIS church was organized in 1893, and the building was dedicated in 1894. The house cost the Mission $650; the native Christians purchased the lot for $180. The church has its own native pastor, with preaching, Sunday-school and prayer meeting weekly, and Woman's meetings bimonthly.

appointment of the Mission Board, started for Japan via England, a journey approaching 20,000 miles. Of this journey and of the work following, Brother Woodworth says: "Brother Jones has left no record, except that he made brief visits at Singapore, Shanghai, and Hongkong, landing May 16 at Yokohama. Three weeks later we find him located at Ishinomaki. The first year there were three converts. The next year seven joined by letter and six by profession. The third year twenty-seven joined by confession. The records show the number of members to be forty-four at the end of the third year. About this time the Japanese were having a craze for things foreign. Then they thought it was the proper thing to study Christianity and accept it. Not strange therefore, that the fourth year, 1890, thirty-five new members were added: the Oji flock of sixteen came in, making fifty-one additions that year, the banner year of our mission."

Brother Rhodes and wife have since returned to this country, and Brother Jones and wife have gone to China, leaving Brother Woodworth and wife, Brother Fry and wife, nee Gullett, and Sister Penrod as our present force of missionaries in Japan.

WOMAN'S BOARDS.

When properly understood, no line of Christian work appeals to the sympathies, prayers, and purses of Christian women as does that of missions. Women are the greater sufferers from the ignorance, superstition, oppression, and cruelty of heathenism,—in places regarded with less favor than some of the brutes. It is Christianity that sanctifies the home, and lifts woman from the position of a menial to companionship with man and an equal sharer with him in the comforts of this life, as well as the blessings and inspirations that Christianity gives in this world and its hopes for the world to come. As she sees the depths from which Christianity has lifted her, and realizes the heights to which it has exalted her, her heart is moved with gratitude to God and with pity for her unfortunate sisters in heathenism, and she becomes a willing and efficient helper in the cause of missions.

Our women have been identified with our missionary work, especially the foreign work, from its beginning. First, Brother Watson appointed a Woman Missionary Secretary in a few of the conferences. Through these a few church missionary societies were organized.

At the Quadrennial Convention at New Bedford, in 1886, a Woman's Board for Foreign Missions was organized. This board is incorporated in the State of Massachusetts. Their plan of work has been to secure, as far as practicable, woman's missionary boards in the local conferences, and through these missionary societies in the churches: the church societies auxiliary to the conference boards, the conference boards auxiliary to the Quadrennial boards. These boards and societies have done efficient work, both in increasing missionary sentiment and in raising missionary money.

At the Marion Convention in 1890 a Woman's Board for Home Missions was organized. The plans and purposes of this board are almost identical with those of the Board for Foreign Missions, except that the funds are to be used for work in the home land. This board has also done some efficient work.

The officers of these boards realize that the work has just commenced, that a number of the conferences have yet no woman's board, and comparatively few of the churches yet have missionary societies, that not a tithe of the possibilities have yet been reached in raising missionary money. They have the following points in view :

1. A woman's missionary board in every conference.
2. A missionary society in every church.
3. A copy of the Christian Missionary in every family.

THE PRESENT STATUS OF THE WORK

May be indicated by the following from my annual report to the Mission Board at its recent meeting:

A commendable degree of activity has been manifest on the part of our missionaries, and upon the part of some of our missionary friends and supporters at home, though the "stringency of the times" that are upon us has seriously affected our finances, as well as those of other missionary boards.

IN THE HOME FIELD.

During the year financial aid has been rendered for the cause at Spruce Street, New Bedford, Mass.; Bogle Street, Fall River, Mass. (one quarter); Binghamton, N. Y.; Newark, N. Y.; Barkersville, N. Y.; Erie, Pa.; Columbus, Ohio; Piqua, Ohio; Muncie, Ind.; Kokomo, Ind.; Danville, Ill.; Newton, Ill.; Marshall, Mich.; Lexington, Mich.; Lincoln, Kan.; Lake City, Iowa; Durham, N. C.; Greensborough, N. C.; for evangelistic work in the State of Washington and the Indian Territory, and for the Franklinton (colored) School.

Our workers in these fields have reported for the year, 2,977 sermons preached; 4,180 meetings held; 5,799 pastoral visits made; 455 conversions; 528 members received; 9 churches organized; 17 Sunday-schools organized; $290.56 raised under Quadrennial calls.

There were $342.47 more money raised for Home Missions this year than last year. This is no small encouragement. So far about three-fourths of the receipts for this line of our work are from the Children's Day collections. In addition to the collection cards which are prepared and sent out by the Mission Secretary, this year we offered to place the name of each child who collected one dollar or more on a "Roll of Honor," and give a "Certificate of Membership" in the Boys' and Girls' Missionary Army to each one who secured three dollars or more for the Home Mission collection. As a result we have 502 names on the "Roll of Honor," and have sent out

CHRISTIAN CHURCH AND PARSONAGE, PIQUA, OHIO.

THIS enterprise was commenced by the Mission Board, with Rev. S. S. Newhouse as minister. The church was organized in November, 1890, with 115 members; the church building was dedicated in October, 1895. Brother Newhouse is still the pastor; a good working church, and a property worth some twenty-five thousand dollars.

152 "Certificates." Doubtless this helped to secure this increase for our Home Mission-work.

We have been trying to impress our people with the thought of making it not a Children's Day merely, but a Home Mission Day, and that the churches should make offerings worthy grown-up Christians. In this, however, our success is not as encouraging as we could wish.

IN THE FOREIGN FIELD.

The following are the statistics of the Japan work for the year closing October 1, 1896:

Number of missionaries, ordained.....	4
Number of missionaries, unordained.....	1
Number of native preachers, ordained.....	2
Number of native preachers, unordained.....	3
Number of other native helpers.....	8
Number of principal stations.....	2
Number of out stations.....	4
Number of churches, organized.....	4
Number of church members { Men.....152	262
{ Women.....110
Added last year.....	31
Number of Sunday-schools.....	9
Number of scholars in Sunday-schools.....	356
One Theological school, with pupils.....	6
Three day schools, with pupils.....	80
Money collected by native Christians.....	$115 28

The appropriations that the board was able to make for the work last year were such that little enlargement of the work, by way of increased number of workers or added schools or stations, could be made. The ground previously taken has, however, been occupied, with some enlargement, such as the opening of a preaching station in Sendai, with the organization of a Sunday-school and a woman's meeting in the same city under Mrs. Fry. Work was also commenced at one or two new points in the city of Tokio, and in two villages adjoining Oji, near Tokio, by Miss Penrod and Prof. Woodworth.

The Theological and Training School, under Prof. Woodworth, assisted by Miss Penrod and Mr. Ohta, as well as the day schools for Japanese children, have been continued, and are doing good work. Mr. Ichikawa, a native preacher of more than ordinary ability, who, on account of lack of harmony with our first missionary, left our work a few years ago, has returned, and becomes pastor of the Tokio church. This is regarded as a very valuable accession to our working force.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

For the year ending October, 1896:

Balance October 1, 1895	$4,329 30
Received during year	5,676 29
Total	$13,005 59
Paid out during year	9,110 88
Balance October 1, 1896	$3,894 71

Of the receipts, $4,544.97 was for the home work, and $4,131.32 for the foreign work.

The total receipts for the year were $1,356.73 less than the previous year. But aside from the special fund for the Tokio Mission Home there were but $67.93 less than the previous year.

Of the receipts during the year, $4,444.42 came through the Convention Secretary; $1,500 from the Woman's Foreign Missionary Board; $121.20 from the Woman's Home Mission Board; $400 from the Southern Christian Convention; $202.60 from the sale of Children's Day Services; $273.50 from dividends; the balance, $1,734.57, were from Christian Endeavor Societies, personal contributions, and a few conference and other special collections.

REV. JOHN MACCALMAN, NEW BEDFORD, MASS.

REV. JOHN MACCALMAN is a Scotchman by birth. He was active as an officer of the Free Church in Glasgow, in whose membership he found a liberty of belief that made his association with the Christians in this country very natural. In his Scotch church relation he heard nothing of the creed or confession as anything binding on him. He was a carpenter, and at that trade worked in New York City. He came under the influence of Dr. A. H. Morrill's preaching there, on Thirty-fourth Street. He also listened to Dr. McWhimney. He attended the Christian Biblical Institute, and took rank as one of its most gifted students. His most prominent pastorates have been Schultsville Church, New York, and Middle Street, New Bedford, Massachusetts, where he has labored for a long term of years. His preaching has certain peculiarities that make it exceedingly attractive. His delivery is vehement, rather swift, and artless in manner. His enunciation suggests his Scotland childhood sufficiently to make it agreeable to the ear. He dwells much on the practical and spiritual in Christianity; his sermons are analytical, highly logical, and saturated with what might be called the dogmatics of practical Christian living. In the better sense they might be called very doctrinal, yet he does not confine himself to mere reasoning, but illustrates well. He has always been useful and successful, much of his influence over his people coming from his amiable and devoted Christian conduct. He is a member of the general mission board, and has occupied positions in conference, both in New York and Massachusetts, everywhere being considered wholly reliable, and one competent for any trust. He is now one of our most able ministers, an earnest Bible student, and a devoted follower of Jesus.

The Minister's Salary.

PAY that preacher's salary in full. Save your church and yourself the disgrace of a deficit on that claim. Pay every dollar of it if it costs you a sacrifice. Why should you not make a sacrifice? The sacrificing element is the sanctifying element in gifts. Giving your mere surplus or what you can spare without pain amounts to little or nothing. Give deep down until self-denial is touched, and you will feel a joy and a power you never knew before in giving.

President Christian Correspondence College and Secretary Educational Department, American Christian Convention.

REV. MARTYN SUMMERBELL was born at Naples, New York, December 20, 1847. He was prepared for college at an academy at West Randolph, Vermont. Was a student at Union Christian College in 1864 and 1865. Entered the college of the City of New York in 1866, graduating in 1871. Then taught grammar in this college one year. He resigned the position in 1872 to accept the vice-presidency of Friends' Seminary, in New York City, and resigned in 1880. He preached for the Brooklyn Church fourteen years. The work of building up this "Church of the Evangel" is a monument to his energy and devotion.

Brother Summerbell is Professor of Pastoral Theology at the Christian Biblical Institute, Stanfordsville, New York. Is also a trustee and member of the Executive Board of the C. B. I. He is pastor of a large congregation at Lewiston, Maine. He is remarkable for industry and faithfulness in all duties committed to him. He is equally remarkable for the thoroughness of his scholarship and the generosity of his spirit.

B. M. STODDARD.

The Educational Department of the American Christian Convention.

Rev. Martyn Summerbell, D.D., Ph.D., Secretary, Lewiston, Maine.

It is a pleasure for the Educational Secretary to greet the readers of the "Christians' Annual" and present the faces of the brethren in this department. And it is further a pleasure to be able to say truly, that in some important respects the educational interests of the denomination were never more promising as to actual condition and future prospect than at the present time.

For one thing, there were never at any previous period so many of our young people who were so eager to improve their educational standing, or so resolutely determined to pursue their studies, be the sacrifice what it may. As I have met them, east, west, and south, I find the one spirit, that of firm resolution to inform themselves by the best methods, and to the largest degree possible. Some are studying with no teacher, some are in school, some are denying themselves to gain the means to enable them to attend school. This better training of our coming generation is to have a most beneficent effect on the life of the denomination.

Another pointer in the same direction is that the schools are gradually improving their plant, and enlarging their facilities, so that they can afford better accommodations for their pupils, as well as lead them further along the path of learning. Every such mark of advancement, such as the new buildings at Elon, or the furnishing of their society halls, or the steam heating apparatus in the Students' Home at Stanfordville, or the new furnaces at Starkey, lends a fresh enthusiasm to both teachers and students. They note with delight each step of progress, encouraged all the more as every advance paves the way for another.

But a very encouraging feature, educationally, is the fact that, with all the depression which business men are complaining of, the educational collection just taken has been the most generous for a long period. A special call was made, and though not all was realized that was asked for, taking into consideration the condition of the country, and the general absorption of thought in the national elections, the response made was so much better than usual, that we all have good reason to rejoice.

It is to the general advantage that the schools and the people shall be in close touch with each other.

The schools need the warm sympathy of the churches, so that neither student nor teacher may fall into the exclusiveness of the book worm, but may make all their studies aids for the better work of life; and the churches want the help of the schools to give them the leaders they want, in the sharp competition which our modern life enforces.

Once more the Educational Secretary gives the churches and the people a hearty greeting, and speaks for the presidents and professors of the several schools a fraternal hearing.

MARTYN SUMMERBELL,
Secretary for Education.

Union Christian College, Merom, Indiana.

THIS college was founded in 1859. Is controlled by the Christians. Stands for Christian education and the unity of the church. The assets of the institution are over $100,000. Its departments are so thoroughly organized that the entire current expenses for instruction rarely exceed $60.00 annually. The college has been served by sixty different trustees, five presidents, forty different members of the faculty. It has had 2,500 different students; graduating 200 of them, three of whom are in foreign mission fields, thirty are in the ministry, and forty-two are teachers and professors. The attendance for 1895-96 was 213, twenty-one of whom graduated. The general advantages offered by the college are of a high grade. Degrees are conferred upon those who have earned them by close study and success. Students are admitted at any time.

habits of industry and economy, and at the same time acquired a taste for books. Taught his first school at eighteen. At twenty entered Starkey Seminary, graduating in 1873. Taught two years at Cayuta, N. Y. He next entered Oberlin College, where by manual labor he worked his way through the classical course, graduating in 1880. He was then called to Merom, as principal, preparatory department. Two years later he returned to Oberlin, where in 1885 he received his first degree in Divinity. In 1887 he became president of Union Christian College and pastor of the Christian Church, which position he has served nearly ten years with increased popularity and efficiency. President Aldrich received his doctor degree from Elon College in 1890. He spent one vacation season in travel and study in Europe. Dr. Aldrich is a modest, plain, unassuming man, much loved by all.

REV. J. B. WESTON, D.D.,
President Christian Biblical Institute, Stanfordsville, New York.

REV. J. B. WESTON, D.D., was born in Madison, Maine, July 6, 1821, the son of Stephen and Rebecca Weston. Was converted at the age of fourteen. His early life was spent on a farm, but at seventeen he had fitted himself for teaching, and at twenty-two fitted himself for college in Latin and Greek. In 1843 he joined the Maine Central Conference as a licentiate, and was ordained at West Newberry, Mass., in 1844. He studied Hebrew in Boston under Dr. Eli Noyes. In 1846 he was associated with D. P. Pike and Elijah Shaw in the publication of the Herald of Gospel Liberty. In 1853 he entered Antioch College, graduating in 1857. On graduating he became principal of the Preparatory Department and after 1865 Professor of Greek. He taught twenty-eight years in the college. In June, 1860, he married Miss Achsah E. Waite, of Chicago, the present president (see p. 57) of the Woman's Foreign Mission Board. In 1881 he was elected President of the C. B. I., which position he still honors. Most nobly has Dr. Weston served the Christian Church. Long may he live. B. M. STODDARD.

PRESIDENT'S MANSION.

STUDENTS' HOME.

CHRISTIAN BIBLICAL INSTITUTE, STANFORDVILLE, NEW YORK.

The Christian Biblical Institute was established and is controlled by the Christian denomination. Its special design is to aid in preparation for the ministry in this denomination; but it is open to well-accredited Christians who desire to prepare for the ministry or other gospel work, without regard to sex, age or denominational preferences.

The theological "standard" of the Christian is THE BIBLE. The denomination arose and exists as a protest against the division of the Church of Christ on lines of non-essential dogmas embodied in creeds. It accepts the Bible as revealing to the common sense of men the essential principles which lie at the basis of true faith and life. Hence the object of the school is primarily and chiefly the study of the Bible, especially the New Testament; believing that from this source the preacher draws his best preparation for his work. To this are added such studies as are necessary to an intelligent understanding of the Bible and a proper presentation of its truth. We seek a theology that is practical and spiritual, as well as intelligent, rather than dogmatic and fixed. We believe that true theology is broad, reverent and sympathetic; bearing the spirit, as well as declaring the doctrine, of the New Testament,—that it touches the wide interests of man, as well as theories pertaining to the character of God and his government. For all information, address the president,

REV. S. Q. HELFENSTEIN.

The "Helfenstein Boys," "S. Q." and "D. M.," were born in Clark County, Ohio, "S." in 1848, "D." in 1852. They received their first lessons in theology from their father, and both were consecrated to the ministry by the prayers of their mother. In 1866 they went with their parents to Iowa and remained with them until they were called "home." From his early boyhood "S. Q." had wanted to preach (and we have no doubt "D. M." did, too), so in September, 1876, he entered the REV. D. M. HELFENSTEIN.

Christian Biblical Institute, where he spent three years. In 1883 they both graduated from the classical course of Parson's College, Fairfield, Iowa, and afterwards both attended McCormick Seminary of Chicago, Illinois, "S. Q." for one year, "D. M." graduating in 1886. Both have been with Presbyterians in their school lives, yet they are firmly-fixed Christians. In 1884 "S. Q." married Lucretia, the eldest daughter of Austin Craig. In 1877 "D. M." married Belle Mauck. "D. M." has been president of Le Grand Christian College since 1889. "S. Q." taught two years at the Christian Biblical Institute, and since has been Professor of Greek and Biblical Instruction in Le Grand. Both of these God-fearing brothers love to teach and preach. The cause of the Christians has prospered wonderfully in Iowa through the untrifling efforts of the "Helfenstein Boys." To them Christ is all.

JUST recently nearly four thousand dollars have been expended on Le Grand College buildings, and consequently the comfort of students has been greatly enhanced. No pains are spared to reach the standard of excellence attained by other schools. Each member of the faculty is a specialist in his line of work. Parents, in looking for a suitable place to educate their children, should take the following into consideration:

1. Where will I find a college that has good moral surroundings?
 2. Where will I find a college that each member of the faculty has a personal interest in each student?
 3. Where will I find a college that seeks to lead the students to the personal acceptance of Christ?
 4. Where will I find a college that seeks to make the expense as light as possible?
 5. Where will I find a college that the government is homelike?
- "At Le Grand, Iowa," may be placed after each one of these questions.

For catalogue, address

LE GRAND, IOWA, November 14, 1896.

For more than three years I have been a student of Le Grand Christian College, and I do not believe its surroundings are equaled by any college west of the Mississippi River. Nor is the quality of the instruction surpassed by any college in the west. And no college giving an equal course has as small expenses.

REV. G. R. HAMMOND, PH.D.,

Principal Starkey Seminary, Eddytown, New York.

REV. G. R. HAMMOND was born in Hunters Land, New York, December 11, 1848. In 1863 he united with the Christian Church. He entered Starkey Seminary in 1867 and graduated (as valedictorian) in 1870. He graduated from Antioch College in 1876, also as valedictorian. In his senior year at Starkey he married Miss Dolly Simons. He has taken special studies at Harvard and Syracuse Universities, and the latter institution conferred upon him his Ph.D. in 1886. He has been twice principal of Starkey. After his first term he took an extended trip through Europe. He was pastor at Dayton, Ohio, one year, from which place he returned to Starkey. He is an admirable teacher. "His great forte is in the class room. There he is every inch a king."

STARKEY SEMINARY is situated in Eddytown, New York, on the Northern Central Railroad, and a mile west of Seneca Lake. The scenery is delightful, location healthful. Five buildings are used by the Seminary—Foreman Hall, Hathaway Hall, Music Cottage, Boarding Hall, and Gymnasium. Starkey Seminary is emphatically a Christian school. It is the aim of those in charge to secure to each student the highest development of character. All departments of the school are under the control of the principal. REV. W. W. STALEY, D.D., President Elon College, worked his own way through the schools. Was born of pious, humble parents in Alamance County, N. C., February 24, 1849. Prepared for college by Rev. W. S. Long, D.D., in Graham, N. C., from 1867 to 1871. Entered Sophomore class in Trinity College, North Carolina, in 1871, and graduated A. B. 1874. He taught in Graham High School from 1874 to 1877; in school at University of Virginia in 1877 and 1878. He married in 1879. He accepted a call to Suffolk Christian Church in 1882, having been ordained to the Christian ministry in 1874. He was chosen president of the General Convention in 1886; attended Hebrew school at University of Virginia in the summer of 1887; chosen non-resident president of Elon College in 1894; pastor of Suffolk Christian Church since 1882; made a tour of Europe, Turkey, Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine, and Egypt in 1895; received A.M. from Trinity College in 1877, and D.D. from Union Christian College in 1893.

Elon College, North Carolina.

ELON COLLEGE was authorized September 13, 1888; chartered March 11, 1889, and opened to students September 2, 1890, and is the property of the Southern Christian Convention. It was initiated with few supporters, but now has many friends and property valued at fifty thousand dollars. It stands in a campus of twenty-five acres, laid out by a landscape gardener and filled with young oaks. It faces the Southern Railway, in grounds beautiful and ample. It has substantial brick buildings, three fine literary society halls, a good library and reading-room, is co-educational, has a faculty of nine, and averages one hundred students. It has graduated thirty-eight with degrees, and several in music and painting. It is separate from cities, in a salubrious climate, practices economy, and maintains a high moral tone. Its growth has been phenomenal, it ranks with the best colleges, and does thorough work. With a history of only six full years it has quickened the pulse of the southern church in education, missions, church building, music, church papers, social and spiritual life. The pulpit speaks with more power and the pew responds with a deeper faith and larger liberality. For catalogue, apply to Rev. J. O. Atkinson, M.A., Chairman of the Faculty, Elon College, N. C.

KANSAS CHRISTIAN COLLEGE is located in Lincoln, Kansas, a beautiful town of 1,500 inhabitants. It is positively an educational school. The following extracts are from an article written by Supt. Truman. In speaking of Kansas College, he says: "This institution is run upon a strictly business basis, by a man whose appreciation of his responsibility is both acute and judicious. Those whose ambition is to superficially cover ground, or to dawdle away time by ostensibly studying while their minds are occupied with useless reading, will find themselves in hot water from the beginning of the time they enter the college until they take their useless selves to some other field. They will find a school not so large but that every student has the personal attention of the faculty, and that attention is cultured, conscientious and painstaking."

During the year 1895-6, Kansas Christian College enrolled students from many other colleges and high schools, and not a college in the state can boast of enrolling a Kansas Christian College student. For catalogue and full particulars, address the president, O. B. Whitaker, Lincoln, Kansas.

In '91 he received his master's degree, and in '94 his alma mater conferred upon him the degree of A.M. In '95, Union Christian College conferred upon him the degree of Ph.D.

He began teaching at 18. He rose rapidly. He accepted the presidency of Kansas Christian College, in which position he has labored unceasingly and devotedly for over three years.

He is the author of "Teacher's and Student's Manual of Elocution and Calisthenics," which has been introduced as a text-book into several leading educational institutions. He is also author of the "thrilling story" entitled "Poor Dick and Winning Willie," and a volume of "lectures and poems," both of which were copyrighted in 1896.

Since the founding of the school a village, Weaubleau, of 300 inhabitants, has grown up around it. The citizens are noted for their sobriety and morality. The school has established a reputation second to none in the state. Already the graduates are classed among the leading educators of Missouri, and enjoy the highest honors that the teachers of the state can confer. The curriculum embraces scientific, commercial, and normal courses. For catalogue and further information, address

FRANKLINTON CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, FRANKLINTON, NORTH CAROLINA.
(For the colored people.)

FRANKLINTON is twenty-seven miles north of Raleigh. The college is located on the south side of the village, on high ground, and in a beautiful grove. The school was first incorporated (about 1883) for thirty years, as Franklinton Literary and Theological Christian Institute, but in 1891 the state legislature granted a perpetual charter as Franklinton Christian College. There have been six theological graduates. The attendance last year was 153. The income from the endowment fund is $350. The yearly expenses are limited to $1,800. They have never exceeded this, and generally fall below it. The remainder of this sum must come from the free-will offerings of the Christians. The Board of Control asks all lovers of the education of our colored brethren and their children to send their donations to the president, N. DEL McREYNOLDS, Franklinton, N. C.

REV. N. DEL McREYNOLDS,
President Franklinton Christian College, Franklinton, North Carolina.

REV. N. DEL McREYNOLDS was born in West Milton, Ohio, October 12, 1842, and was educated at Martinsburg Academy, Ohio. He taught school in Illinois and Ohio until 1891, when he accepted the presidency of Franklinton College. He was ordained in 1891 by the Miami (Ohio) Christian Conference. He is a natural born teacher, and under his wise and efficient management Franklinton will rise to the full height of her possibilities. You will find in his large library the best and most reliable books, and on his tables the latest and best periodicals. His heart at this time is for Franklinton. Every church, Sunday school, and individual should rally to his aid.

J. F. BURNETT.

“My History.”

By Rev. George W. Dunn, Graham, N. C., of the North Carolina Conference.

THE years of my life are fifty, “few and evil.” I was born February 23, 1847, and served as a slave nineteen years. I was twenty-one before I knew how to read and write. In 1866, after the dark cloud had rolled away, I began to feel the need of a knowledge of books, but having no aid, it was very hard for me to study and earn my support at the same time. I was converted among the Christians and was much oppressed in the spirit to preach the gospel. Though ignorant, I was called to preach at Franklinton. Sectarianism was so strong at this place that it was said, “The small number of helpless Christians will soon cease to exist.” This was in 1879 and 1880. I knew not what to do, but I was informed that we (the colored Christians) had some true friends up north who would assist us if they knew our poverty. About this time the Golden Censor, published at Roxford, Illinois, came into my hands. I then wrote to the Golden Censor, stating our condition, and from that letter I found the Herald of Gospel Liberty. Hallelujah! Our work is now in a prosperous condition, so I can now say as old Simeon did, “Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation.” Farewell, dear reader; the day is far spent, and my shadow is growing lengthy. I will meet you at the golden gate that stands ajar.

Christian Correspondence College, Lewiston, Maine.

WHEN it was first proposed to the Christians to give instruction by correspondence, it was found that there was an eager demand for the help to be given by this method. Doubtless in every case where the student can attend the class room he should be persuaded to avail himself of the privilege. Nothing can fully take the place of the live instructor and the eager body of classmates. There is inspiration in the association which lifts the pupil forward. But there are cases where such opportunity cannot be given, because harsh circumstance bars the way. This is particularly true of the busy pastor who may not leave his flock or his family. If he has enjoyed a thorough course of training he will be able to take up work alone; but if his advantages have been limited this will not be practicable. The difficulties he meets soon become so formidable as to produce discouragement, and the work ceases almost before it is well begun.

Here it is that the Correspondence College comes with an unbarring of the gates. Pleasant walks of instruction are laid out. Good books are suggested for reading. Special investigations are recommended. Questions are supplied to which the student writes definite replies. Training is given in writing, in style and in methods of study. Ministers of wide influence already testify to the service which they have received from this plan, both in better comprehension of subjects that are presented, and the greater ease of preparing their sermons. The plan has gone beyond the preliminary and doubtful stage. It is developing, in that it helps the brother to help himself; it is elastic, in that it yields to circumstances; it is convenient, in that it may be commenced at any time, suspended when duties press too heavily, and resumed again when the pressure relaxes. The college has no limit to the number it can teach, and should be having a hundred students, where, because it makes so little noise in the world, it has but a handful.

MARTYN SUMMERBELL,
President.

Note.

THE foregoing educational institutions, though governed by their own Board of Trustees, are recipients of the Educational Fund of the American Christian Convention, the distribution of which is made by the Executive Board of the Convention. Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, was founded by the Christians, but is now controlled by a Board of Trustees, a majority of which is in sympathy with the Unitarian denomination, so it is not reckoned as one of our institutions in the distribution of the Educational Fund. However, several of its faculty are members of our denomination, Dr. T. M. McWhinney having recently accepted the "Palmer Chair of Christian Ethics."

THE following is a part of the action of the American Christian Convention held at Haverhill, Massachusetts, in October, 1894: "That the Executive Board be requested to enter into correspondence with the secretary of the Board of Trustees of Antioch College with the view of setting before that Board the wishes of this body, and of arriving at some definite understanding."

Western Indiana Conference.

(Reported by Secretary Thomas.)

The first conference record dates 1840, and was held under the name of The Coal Creek Christian Conference. The records for ten years previous, commencing 1830, were either lost, or not kept; yet it is well authenticated that regular sessions were held in an organized business manner and good results attained.

The meeting in 1840 was held June 15, in Fountain County. Name of church not given. Deacon Ira Smith, of Lafayette, was president, and probably James L. McKinney was secretary, his name being signed to the session of 1841.

The ordained elders at the session of 1840 were Joseph Jackson, William Hole, John P. Martin, David Hays, Alexander Briggs, John Dudley, Adam Thomas, and James McKinney.

The unordained were Joel Thomas, John Hicks, William Lane, William Sneath, and James Lee. Joel Thomas and John Hicks were ordained at this meeting. Eleven churches were reported by letter and three verbally. At the session in 1854, R. M. Thomas was elected secretary and served more than forty years.

At this session, 1854, on motion of Elder James

REV. S. D. BENNETT, PLATTSBURG, OHIO.
(Southern Ohio Conference.)

REV. J. T. PHILLIPS, (Western Indiana Conference—FRANKFORT, INDIANA, Trustee of Union Christian College and Christian Biblical Institute.

McKinney, "agreed to approve of a Home Mission Society." They also agreed that the president, "Brother Ira Smith, attend to the printing and distributing of the minutes."—(Oh, for a copy of those old minutes.—Sec.)

The name of the conference was changed from the Coal Creek Christian Conference to the Western Indiana Christian Conference in 1852.

Rev. A. R. Heath, at the present session, 1896, suggested a committee to inquire into the early history of the conference, stating that he felt quite sure there were three or four sessions prior to 1830.

Brother Heath was appointed a committee, and after a careful inquiry, reports that by very reliable proofs it can be abundantly proven that four sessions were held prior to 1830. He says, one, Elder Watson Clark, now living in Covington in the eighty-fourth year of his age, says that his father, Elder Isaac Clark, came to Fountain County, Indiana, in 1826; that Elder John Scott, the pioneer of Scotts prairie, and Elder John Hibbs came as early as 1823; Elder William Hole in 1824; Elders John P. Martin and Daniel Trullinger in 1825; Elders James and Solomon McKinney, John Dudley and Alexander Briggs in 1826; all of whom probably attended the first session, which is claimed was held in August, that year, 1826, in the form of a camp-meeting on the farm of Jeremiah Heath, the father of Brother Heath. The meeting was called the Coal Creek Christian Conference. The marks of auger holes on the sugar trees to support the lights, are now visible to mark this sacred place.

The second session was held in camps on the farm of James Graham, in August, 1827. The above named Watson Clark remembers attending this session; also Smith Rabb, John Bodine, and Daniel Trullinger, Jr., still living in the community, remember attending this session; also Elders Watson Clark, Sr., Riley Garren, Job and Michael Combs, and John and Urium Sargent came in time to attend this session.

The third session was held on the farm of James Davis, in 1828, in camps near a huge log school house and cemetery. Brother Heath remembers the remains of this camp.

The fourth session was held in the house of Brother Heath's grandfather, Johnson, which house still stands on a farm adjoining that of Brother Heath. The four sessions were held in a radius of 3½ miles.

The next session will be held at New Salem Church, Indiana, Tuesday, August 17, 1897.

REV. A. D. KELLISON, MADISON, KANSAS.
First President of Des Moines Conference.

REV. ABNER JONES WELTON, BINGHAMTON, NEW YORK (New York Southern Conference).

ELDER ABNER JONES WELTON was born at Fairlee, Vermont, February 27, 1815. His parents and grandparents were members of the Christian Church of Bradford, Vermont. He was converted at sixteen. In 1832 he went to New York, and four years later to Pennsylvania, and settled at Covington where he married Miss Lucy Putnam, a descendant of Israel Putnam of Revolutionary fame. Six children were born to them, four of whom are still living and are true to their childhood's training. September 10, 1843, Elder Welton was ordained at Covington, Pennsylvania, and in this state began the active labors of a life destined to wield a wide influence in the cause of right. His work has been largely pioneer missionary labor. Like Paul, he has gone up and down through Northern Central Pennsylvania, Southern Central New York, establishing and encouraging churches. Four church edifices are the result of his earnest efforts, while almost numberless are the churches that have felt the influence of his labors. He has organized eight churches. His last and greatest work was the organization of the church at Binghamton, New York. Though nearing the eighty-second milestone of life, Elder Welton is still well preserved in body and mind, — a remarkable instance of God's care for his beloved.

REV. J. A. BRINKWORTH, M.A.

THE subject of this sketch was born in 1837 at Brimscombe, England. His father was a Wesleyan in religion, and an expert in the manufacture of fine broadcloths. In 1848 the lad left home for a time to reside with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs.

Thompson, in the Forest of Dean. While here Mr. Brinkworth attended meetings with the "Bible Christians," and taught the Bible class in their Sunday school. On the death of his aunt he returned to the family home where he went into the mill and helped in the making of broadcloths, working on the piece which took the first prize in the London exhibition of 1851. In 1854 he came to this country and settled at Bullao, where he engaged in ship building.

In Bullao he united with Grace M. E. Church and commenced preaching. In 1859 he returned to England, where he engaged in study under private tutors. Becoming acquainted with the Rev. Samuel Martin, he was baptized by him in 1862 and received into the membership of the General Baptists. The same year he married Miss Hannah Gaisford, who all these years has proven a true helpmeet.

In 1875 he was chosen pastor of the General Baptist Church at Saffron-Walden, Essex, where he has served up to this writing.

He has from the time of entering the General Baptist body been one of their most prominent ministers, having been made Messenger of the Assembly for life, and having been their secretary for many years. When our Bro. D. W. Moore went to England as a delegate from the American Christian Convention it was Mr. Brinkworth who welcomed him. He is now President of the Assembly. Twice, in 1876 and in 1880, he has represented the General Baptists in fraternal greetings to our Western New York Conference, and the Canada Conference.

He is a man of the most indefatigable energy, a stirring preacher, and of most practical turn of mind. He can set a broken bone, unravel the puzzles of the lawyers, ferret out perpetrators of fraud in the management of trust funds, and push on all the lagging enterprises of the church.

Mr. Brinkworth is known far and wide in England for his fervent sympathy with America, and is often called "The American." He is also a valued correspondent of the Herald of Gospel Liberty.

Hiram Sylvester Bradley was born in Otsego County, New York, Feb. 15, 1839. When he was but five years of age his father died and Hiram with his mother found a home with her parents where he received faithful training the influence of which went far toward moulding that life into the staunch, true manhood he has since attained. October 24, 1858, Bro. Bradley became a member of the Hartwick Christian Church, being converted at that time under the labors of Rev. Austin Damon and was by him baptized. June 25, 1865, he was married to Miss Susan A. Wilcox. Bro. Bradley has been for twelve years treasurer of the New York Eastern Christian Conference, and for twenty years clerk of his home church. He has always been active in church work and a safe adviser in matters pertaining to the church. He is true to the Christian name and denomination, and for thirty years has been a subscriber to the Herald of Gospel Liberty. He has taken more subscriptions for the Herald than any other ten men in the laity of the church, this meaning hard work and sacrifice. He has sent hundreds of dollars to the Christian Publishing Association for its publications.

New England Convention.

(Reported by President Conibear.)

New England has an individuality of its own, and it is only natural that our churches in these states should get together, giving us the New England Christian Convention. In this body there is a blending of three organizations, the Convention itself, the Home and Foreign Missionary Society, and the Christian Educational Society. These separate parts of the whole indicate the work of the Convention. The Convention itself being an annual gathering for mutual counsel and inspiration, the Missionary Society being a factor for strengthening and extending the cause, and the Educational Society to assist the cause of education chiefly in the direction of the ministry. In connection with the Convention there are various departments, such as the Sunday-school, Y. P. S. C. E., Woman's Missionary Board, etc. Under the direction of the Convention, the Christian Endeavorers are supporting one of our missionaries in Japan. The officers of the Convention are also the officers of the Missionary Society and Educational Society. Present officers are:

President—Rev. G. A. Conibear, Freetown, Mass.
Vice-President—Rev. W. J. Reynolds, New Bedford, Mass.

Secretary—Rev. A. H. Morrill, D.D., Haverhill, Mass.

REV. JOSEPH BARNEY was born in Bedford Co., Pa., June 19, 1831. From childhood he had a reverence for the Bible, and felt that some time he would preach the blessed truths it contained. At the age of 16 he joined church, consecrating his life to his Master.

He now felt a desire to enter college, but could not leave his aged parents. Still the Lord kept calling him to preach until he threw aside his fears and, in 1855, announced that he would preach on Christmas night in the house in which he was teaching. Four years later he was ordained at Rock Hill, N. Y., and began a work that has resulted in the organization of ten churches, six hundred baptisms, and over twelve hundred conversions.

His ambitions are the same they were when he entered upon his work, just forty-one years ago; and he feels that although he has traversed life's pathway until he has almost reached the goal, still there is work for him to do. This work he does meekly, patiently, rejoicing in the fact that the Lord thinks him worthy the trust. The results he leaves with God, knowing the seed sown will be well cared for until that great day when he awakes in his likeness.

REV. T. S. WEEKS. (Rhode Island and Massachusetts Conference), SWANSEA CENTER, MASS.

REV. THOMAS SMITH WEEKS was born in the town of Blooming Grove, Orange Co., N. Y., July 6, 1854. He is the eldest son of Benj. F. and Nancy Weeks. He was educated in the schools of Middletown, N. Y., which was his home until he entered upon the work of the ministry. He was converted at the early age of 13, and united with the First Presbyterian Church. Soon after the establishment of the Free Christian Church of that town he became interested in our principles, and joined it by letter in 1874. He was licensed to preach the same year. Upon his twentieth birthday he had entered upon the study of law, and was admitted to practice in all the courts of New York State September 10, 1877. He spent one year in the Biblical Institute at Stamfordville (1879-80), and then entered upon his work as a minister, being first employed as missionary by the N. E. Home and Foreign Missionary Society. He was ordained by vote of the N. Y. Eastern Christian Conference June 5, 1881, at Middletown, Rev. H. L. Hastings preaching the sermon, Rev. C. M. Winchester and Rev. S. M. Cook sharing in the service. As pastor, he has served the churches at Augusta, Newport, and Skowhogan, Maine; Westerly, R. I.; Wolfboro, N. H., and Middle St., New Bedford, and Swansea, Mass., his present pastorate. May 16, 1883, he was married to Miss Carrie E. Jaquith, of Clinton, Maine, by Rev. B. P. Reed. Their home is made happy by the presence of two children, Edith A., 12 years old, and Thomas N., 1 year. Bro Weeks has been honored by his brethren with important positions, which he has filled with honor to the cause and credit to himself. He was president of the N. H. S. S. Association one year, president of the N. E. Convention and associated societies 1 year, and he is now president of the Mass. and R. I. Ministerial Association, and serving his tenth year as secretary of the Camp Meeting Association. Bro Weeks is thoroughly loyal to the Christians, an able preacher, an earnest advocate of all moral reforms, a genial friend and a faithful

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (Rhode Island and Massachusetts Conference), SWANSEA, MASS., REV. T. S. WEEKS, Pastor.

THE First Christian Church of Swansea, Massachusetts, is doubtless the oldest organization in the denomination. It was first gathered in A. D. 1680. It was formally organized as the "Church of Christ in Swansea" in 1693. Thomas Barnes was chosen elder, and Isaac Mason was ordained deacon in the same year. In 1725 the church adopted the rules of the denomination known as Six Principle Baptists, but did not join their "Yearly Meeting" until 1803. After that date, for sixteen years the church was regularly in fellowship with that body.

In 1819 the church again became independent, returning to its original position of Christian liberty.

For the first fifty years of its history it was doubtless the only church on earth occupying that position of Christian freedom. Samson Mason, whose son Isaac, already named as the first deacon, whose son Joseph was the second pastor, and whose grandsons Job and Russell, were afterwards pastors of this flock, was one of the soldiers of Cromwell who left England for this country at the time of the restoration of the House of Stuart, and he brought with him that love of liberty which characterized his class. In 1811 Benjamin Taylor was invited to occupy the pulpit for a time, dividing the sabbath services with the pastor, Philip Slade, and about 1820, Mr. Taylor was chosen pastor. During his pastorate of ten years there were 133 additions to the church. He was succeeded by Richard Davis, and he by J. J. Thatcher, he by Isaiah Haley, and he by J. S. Thompson, who had two terms, the interval being filled by H. P. Guilford. Mr. Thompson was succeeded by Stephen Fellows, and he by the late B. F. Summerbell. S. K. Sweetman came next, and Geo. H. Allen, now of Steep Brook, succeeded him. Then began the long pastorate of Joseph Warren Osborne, which ended with his sudden decease on January 4, 1889.

The next pastor was Rev. Lester Howard, now of Stamfordville, New York. The present pastorate began October 1, 1894.

More than twenty ministers have gone forth from this church, and several neighboring churches have been organized by members from this body.

The first meeting-house was built soon after the date of organization. The second one was built in 1720, and the present structure, which has been since improved and repaired, was dedicated in 1833, and re-dedicated, after extensive improvements, in 1873. THOS. S. WEEKS.

Webster's International Dictionary
The One Great Standard Authority,

So writes Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice U. S. Supreme Court.

A THOROUGH REVISION OF THE UNABRIDGED,

The purpose of which has been not display nor the provision of material for boastful and showy advertisement, but the due, judicious, scholarly, thorough perfecting of a work which in all the stages of its growth has obtained in an equal degree the favor and confidence of scholars and of the general public.

It is the Standard of the U. S. Supreme Court, all the State Supreme Courts, the U. S. Government Printing Office, and of nearly all the Schoolbooks. Warmly commended by State Superintendents of Schools, and other Educators almost without number.

The International is invaluable in the household, in the schoolroom, and to the teacher, scholar, professional man, and self-educator.

IT IS THE BEST FOR PRACTICAL PURPOSES, BECAUSE

- Words are easily found * * * Pronunciation is easily ascertained,
- Meanings are easily learned * * * The growth of words easily traced,
- and because excellence of quality rather than superfluity of quantity characterizes its every department. * * * * * GET THE BEST.

Relation of the Christian Publishing Association to the Church.

THE Christian Publishing Association is not a private corporation. It is an association within the church, by the church, and for the church. Its capital and property are owned, and its employees chosen and controlled by the body through its representatives. Its general meetings for business, and for the election of trustees, and the editors of the Church and Sunday School periodicals, are held every four years in connection with the quadrennial meetings of the American Christian Convention—the constituency of the one being the same as of the other.

It is therefore a corporation by the church to provide for and carry forward its own publishing interests—the Church's Publishing Association. The relation of this enterprise to the denomination is thus direct and vital. It is that of a potent institution to the body that originated it and that controls it.

The trustees, editors, and publishing agent are but the chosen servants of the body to perform its will, and their success in the management of their trust must be determined chiefly by the fidelity and coöperation of the constituency which they represent. The interests served and fostered are so essentially related to the aims and mission of the body that a wider field cannot be commanded except to a very limited extent. Its field is not the world, but only a very limited portion of it. The enterprise, therefore, justly appeals to the brotherhood as being their own and of right seeks the zealous personal aid of every minister and active lay member in the circulation of the periodicals published under its auspices. The indefatigable and wisely-directed efforts of the publisher and agent, Mr. B. M. Stoddard, to achieve creditable results in this direction are deserving of the largest possible degree of success and should be most heartily reinforced by the brotherhood at large. These efforts of the agent are as earnestly seconded by the editors, Drs. Summerbell and Watson, who are sparing no labor to make the papers they edit most serviceable to the denominational interests and appreciable to the largest portion of their readers.

It is gratifying to note the fact that notwithstanding the unprecedented financial depression of the last year throughout our country, a healthy growth has been realized in the subscription lists of these periodicals, and the Association has been able to increase its net earnings over the preceding year. But the success attained is little more than a beginning of what is possible and reasonable to expect if once the whole brotherhood were aroused to a persistent effort for the success of the Church in its own publishing enterprise and the circulations of its own periodical literature. What is needed is a general and strong coöperation of ministers and laymen with the agent in a determined and continuous effort to increase the circulation of the HERALD OF GOSPEL LIBERTY and the Sunday School literature among our people in every community, large or small, east, west, north, and south. This, and this only, is required to make possible the most gratifying success in the aims and purposes of the Publishing Association. It is evident that hitherto the Association has not had this positive and active support on the part of the many. Few, comparatively, have taken a lively interest in the matter of securing subscribers to the periodicals of the Church. This unanimous effort might easily double the circulation of these papers in a short time and thus enlarge their usefulness, give them financial success, and make it possible to enhance their value without increasing their expense to the subscribers. We appeal to the brotherhood everywhere to render this needed service to a cause, at once their own, and most vital to the success of the Church they love and serve.

S. S. NEWHOUSE,
President C. P. A.

What About 1897?

By Alva H. Morrill, D.D., President A. C. C., and Secretary C. P. A.

THOUGHT is awakened, attention is arrested somewhat, by the crossing of a year's limit. Why may not a church, a denomination pause a moment for reflection as to its condition, plans, and prospects, as well as the business man, or the individual?

Readers of the Annual are interested in the work and progress of the people in whose interest it is published. We may safely and modestly say concerning our people, that

(1) No denomination has a better creed than ours, for we take the Bible, God's message to men, as our creed.

(2) No denomination has a better name, for our name, Christian, honors the Son whom the Father wishes us to honor.

(3) No denomination is more scriptural in its fellowship, for Christian character is our only test of church membership, while we gladly welcome to the communion table every loyal follower of the Christ.

(4) No body of believers offers greater liberty in Christ than we, for we maintain the right, and grant the privilege of individual judgment in the interpretation of the Scriptures.

(5) We believe in Christian Union, and desire the fulfillment of Jesus' prayer, "that they may all be one."

For the promulgation of these principles our fathers gave their efforts and their lives. Possessed of this heritage, we must show our faith by our work.

Love of these principles should lead us to greater diligence and labor in 1897.

Here are a few suggestions:

(1) We should seek more of likeness and conformity to Christ in our individual experience.

(2) Greater faithfulness to our local church, in sustaining its services, advancing its interests, increasing its efficiency and membership.

(3) We should be more systematic and generous in giving of our substance for the advancement of the gospel at home, and for the support of the missionary and benevolent work of our denomination.

(4) Our collections for 1897, for all our general work, should be increased at least fifty per cent. over those of 1896. This is entirely feasible, considering the improved condition of business.

(5) We should keep our cardinal principles to the front, and, if possible, cultivate new fields in growing towns and cities, while using all proper efforts to strengthen and invigorate the churches already existing.

(6) We should be among the foremost in all work to promote the general welfare of the community in which we live, as well as the interests of our great nation, by activity in all movements for good citizenship, civic righteousness, and the overthrow of the awful traffic in intoxicating liquors.

In all these things, does not the Lord command us to "go forward?"

The Old Year and the New.

By Rev. Rosa Lee Stoddard.

We're loth to lose thee, Old Year,
 Thou who hast brought us many joys—
 Joys that far o'ershadowed sorrows.
 We hold thy hand, the parting is severe;
 We fain would greet thee—hold thy hand—to-morrow.

And yet, thy work is done,
 The Master calls thee hence
 To join that company of years gone by.
 We cannot hold thee, fare thee well.
 'Tis but a tear, a passing sigh,
 We give thee for old memory's sake—good-by.

With eyes still dimmed by parting tears
 We hail thee, New Year, bright and beautiful.
 Oh, may we work that thou, of all the years,
 Mayst bear to us more blessings bountiful.

We cannot censure thee, if otherwise we find it;
 We can but censure self, because of tasks undone.
 You will do well, as a wise God has planned it,
 But we neglect our duties one by one.

O heavenly Father! help divine we plead,
 That we may take this pure, unsullied year,
 And in eternity yield back to thee
 A full report of deeds of love sincere,
 To prove we were not merely cumberers here.

Ministerial Directory. (See Unreported List, p. 135.)

NOTE.—Here are names and addresses of ministers of the Christian Church as far as reported by conferences. The American Christian Convention at its last session recommended that only such names as are officially reported by their respective conferences be inserted in the Directory. The following list was almost accurate December, 1896, as printed lists had been sent out to Conference Secretaries, and others, for verification, and a reliable response was received from all conferences except those mentioned in Publisher's Notes on Index page. Every Conference Secretary should send us a complete and accurate directory of his conference not later than November 1 of each year. If any minister's name is omitted he should notify the secretary of his conference, thereby avoiding its omission in next year's Directory.

For a minister's conference membership see page indicated by the figures.
